JUSTICE PLAYS A PART

Matters Referred to the District Court for Adjustment.

ARTHUR FOWLER SENTENCED

Judge Pemberton Sends Him to the Penitentiary for Two Years-About Paying Poll Tax.

BUTTE, Feb. 20.—Arthur Fowler was brought into court this morning to receive sentence for attempting to kill a China man. He had his throat bandaged to cover the self-inflicted wound with suicidal intent, and his face wore an anxious and desperate look. The court asked whether he wished to have sentence passed, and Judge Waldron, Fowler's attorney, replied that they so wished it. He then made a plea for elemency, and stated that he was somewhat surprised at the verdict, as, considering the weight of Chinese evidence, it was hardly justified. and he would ask the court to be as lenient as possible. However, as the jury unani-mously declared Fowler guilty, there was nothing to do but to accept the result, but Mr. Waldron asked the court to re-member the evils that beset allyoung and homeless men in Butte, and consider the circumstances surrounding the defendant in this case. Mr. Waldron thought it was a misfortune that the state did not have a reformatory institute for men who make a first and slight misstep, instead of ruining their whole lives by confining them in a penitentiary among the most hardened criminals of the country.

The court asked Fowler the usual question as to whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed, and he replied that he did not know what to say, but thought that if the evidence had been analyzed in an unbiased way be would not have been found guilty, as he was not guilty, although his attorney seemed to think so. He added that he had had no opportunity to prove his innocence, and then his voice became so low that the remainder of his speech could not be

Judge Pemberton said it was painful for Judge Pemberton said it was painful for the court to pass sentence upon such a young man, whose language and bearing showed that he had been brought up in a better way, and that his surroundings had been elevating in character. As to a question of guilt it was a matter entirely within the province of the jury, and with which the court has nothing to do.

"The court has great sympathy with you," continued the judge, addressing Fowler, "and the after results go to show that you regret and deplore your position. The court hopes that by showing elemency toward you in the matter that it will have its influence upon your mind and encourage you to lead a better life in the future and strive to carn a living by honest and strive to carn a living by honest means. Labor is honorable and dignifies man, and one with your abilities should strive to be a useful citizen. As far as the evidence in your case is concerned the court cannot see how a jury could find a verdict other than guilty."

court cannot see how a jury could find a verdict other than guilty."

The court then sentenced Fowler to imprisonment in the penitentiary at bard labor for two years, a sentence which was by Fowler's attorney considered very light under the verdict. The lowest sentence that could have been given is one year. It is understood that his attorney tried to persuade Fowler to plead guilty, as he considered his case hopeless because he had no witnesses, but Fowler insisted that he was innocent of the charge of attempting to kill and trying to hold up a Chinaman, and he wanted to stand trial.

Sheriff Lloyd concluded this evening to transfer Fowler to the pen at once, and avoid the possibility of his making another attempt on his life here. Warden Conley was in town and the prisoner was

A suit was commenced in Department I. to-day by Henry D. Young et al. against John E. Lloyd to dismiss an appeal on the ground that the appellant failed to fill the ground that the appellant failed to fill his transcript and the papers in the case in court within the 10 days from the time of perfecting his appeal. According to an affidavit accompanying the complaint, and made by Justice Muldoon, a judgment was rendered in his court on Dec. 17 for $290, or for the restitution of certain ore sued for by the plaintiff, and for costs. Forbis & Forbis, attorneys for the defendant, filed a written notice of appeal, which was duly served and accepted. The defendant also filed his undertaking on appeal in the sum of $600, which was approved, and then the defendant forgot or refused to put up fees for a ant forgot or refused to put up fees for a duly certified transcript, and consequently the transcript was never sent to the dis-trict court. That is why the plaintiffs now ask that the appeals be dismissed. The J. D. Thomas Mercantile company has commenced an action against Henry Schmidt to recover payment on a promis-sory note $523,44, with interest at 1½ per cent, from July 26, 1890. Also to recover the unpaid interest, amounting to 890.37, and judgment is asked for $413.81 and costs of the action.

A Question of Taxes,

The following letter was received by the STANDARD, and as it is on a subject that is not quite clear to a great many working-men, it was submitted to County Clerk Booth, who furnishes the answer: To the Editor of the Standard:

To the Editor of the Standard:

As some of as do not understand this special road tax, we would like to have the STANDARD explain how it is, as not long ago it was stated that those living in the city were exempt from paying special road taxes, as it is taken out along with our poil tax by our superintendents-road tax, $2; poil tax, $2. Is this road tax proper inside of the city, or is there still a poor tax for 182? By answering the above you will confer a favor on many of the boys.

A road tax is collected from all able-

A road tax is collected from all ablebodied men between 21 and 45 years of age. Poll ux is collected from all men between 21 and 60 years of age, except paupers and insane persons. The poll tax is the poor tax. The county collects the road tax from persons liable therefor living outside incorporated cities, and collects the poll tax from all persons living inside and outside of cities. When the county collects through the mining companies road tax from a person living inpanies road tax from a person living mide the city, the city does not collect street tax from him also, but exchanges a street tax receipt for the county road tax receipt, and then the city collects from the county the amount of the tax. Every man between the ages above named is liable for both taxes. Very often the mining superintendent collects taxes from employes not within those ages, in which case the county refunds the amount upon a proper showing.

A Good Law.

A few days ago the STANDARD quoted Judge Pemberton on the need of a law giving the court, in certain cases, the discretionary power to suspend sentence dur-ing good behavior, which brought the foling good behavior, which brought the following endorsement from Attorney Wilham H. Trippet at Deer Lodge:

DEER LODGE Mont, Feb. 17, 1892.

DEAR JUDGE PEMBERTON—You are just right on the question of suspended sentence.
I have seen such a law in operation and know its good results. About the time I became prosecuting attorney in Indiana, a law was passed that when a minor was convicted the court in its discretion could suspend sentence during good behavior. In my experience I do not remember, in such cases, a single instance where the boy had to be brought before the court again for the infliction of the penalty, nor where he was afterwards prosecuted of an unner where sentence was suspended. Yet, on the other hand, don't you remember how it was almost always the case that when you got a boy in jail once, he was the same fellow who was always afterwards heing prosecuted for some offense. This was my experience as to minors. Now, why would not a law like that work well as to older persons? Sincerely.
